The Malden Camera Club ...

We love people! Whether these are coming to join us, or having their photos taken by us, or just good friends. Our club is a friendly and helpful place where you can enjoy the company of people who take rather a lot of photographs and enjoy doing it.

We don't insist that you must have a particular type of camera or have spent a lot of money on one. What you need is yourself, and a desire to take pictures that make you and people looking at them feel they have encountered something worthwhile. And a wish to enjoy yourself while you are doing that.

We have a very varied programme and meet most weeks on Thursdays at 8 pm at the Library in Kingston Road. We have regular talks from outside speakers, monthly competitions to test our photos and to see how they could be improved, and a whole range of different workshops throughout the year to help us to develop different skills. We sometimes have speakers who come in on Zoom – a habit we used during those lockdowns and have continued to use on occasion so that we can have speakers from all over the world.

And we also go out on a lot of photo walks. Some of these are to local places (like Richmond or Bushy Parks) while at other times we go up to London to see (and photograph!) the sights. This last year, for example, we have had several ad hoc trips to the parks, a trip to Brick Lane and looking at the Christmas decorations in Oxford Street. On top of that we will be going on a weekend away to Rye and the surrounding area later in September.

We enjoy being a part of our local community and are often asked to help with events or support for various things. Very rewarding!

Our website – www.maldencameraclub.org.uk - has full details of our programme.

We meet at the New Malden Library in Kingston Road – on Thursday evenings at 7:45 for an 8 p.m. start.

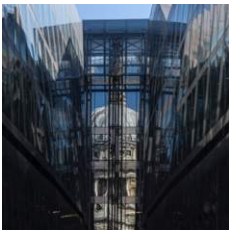

If you are interested in buying any of the prints on display, then please see one of the stewards.
